It's no surprise that many of our professional studio customers have also commissioned Neil Grant to oversee the design of their own personal AV, home cinema and security systems. Working alongside leading architects and interior designers, Harris Grant finds the perfect home for beautiful sound and images. Whether it's discreetly refined or boldly ostentatious, every project reflects and complements the lifestyles and aspirations of our clients.

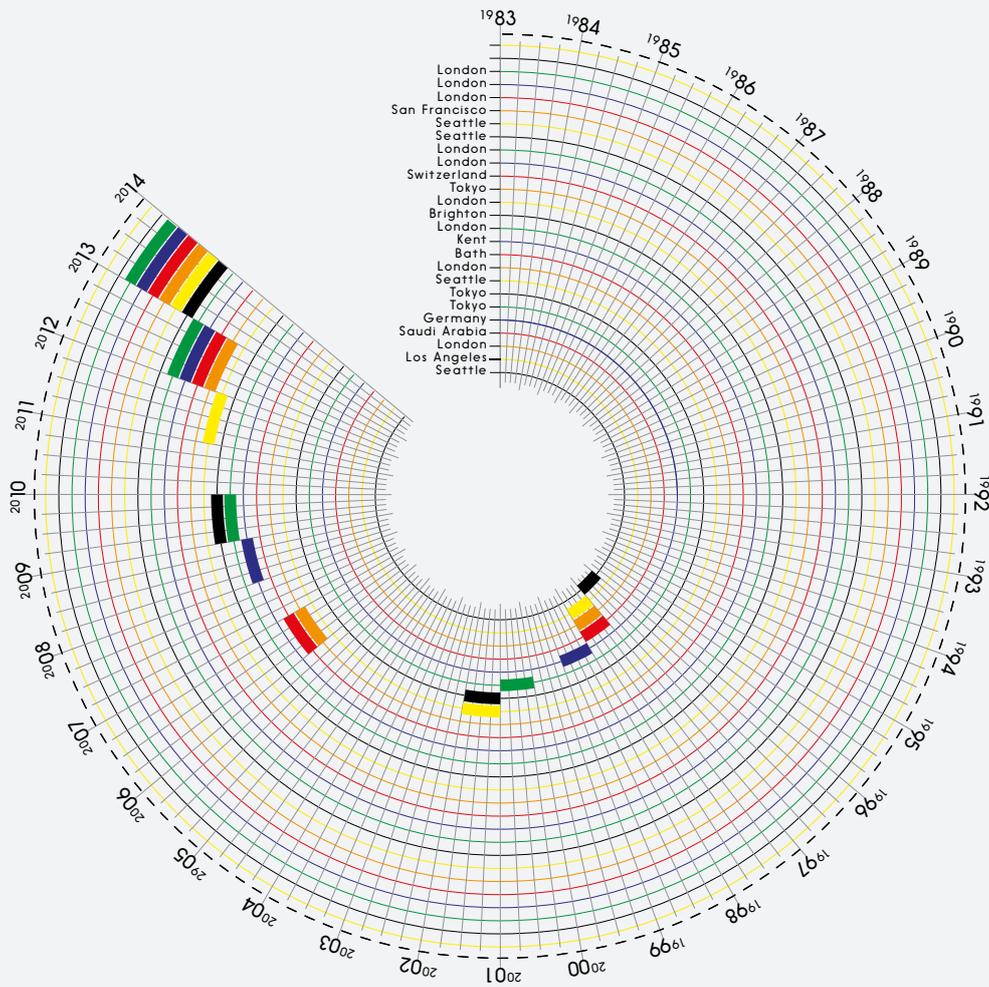

Discerning music artists and studio owners put their trust in Neil Grant's technical vision. And so do our residential clients who demand the same creative flair and absolute discretion. From Tokyo and LA to London's smartest addresses – Harris Grant brings entertainment to life for private individuals who appreciate a service that's unfailingly attentive and always personal.
